

Media Bio:

Angel G. Henry creates ceiling breakers. She is the author of Dents in the Ceiling: Tools Women and Allies Need to Breakthrough; it is her knowledge of why women and minorities are missing from the C-Suite that provides awareness for corporate leaders to make change. Angel has 20-years of tech muscle, a sought-after trainer, speaker, adjunct instructor, and inclusive workplace advisor.

Long Bio:

Angel G. Henry has a passion for workplace inclusion. Her knowledge of why women and minorities are oftentimes missing from the C-Suite provides awareness for business leaders to drive change. Angel has over 20 years IT experience, primarily in the pharmaceutical and healthcare industries and over 15 years in the project management discipline. She has become a recognized thought-leader on the topic of the Agile Mindset which fosters an environment of innovation and productivity.

Angel is also a sought-after trainer and speaker as well as an Adjunct Instructor in the Indianapolis area helping students realize their full potential. She is a member of several professional and community organizations, such as BDPA, Information Technology Senior Management Forum (ITSMF)- Executive, several Agile communities, and Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. Angel's book, Dents in the Ceiling, is a summary of experiences of 30 African American women working in tech.

Angel partners with Lead at Any Level to provide consultancy services to improve employee engagement and increase the retention of top diverse talent.

Introduction:

Angel is a published author with a passion for diversity in tech. Her knowledge of why women and minorities are oftentimes missing from the C-Suite provides awareness for technology leaders to drive change. Angel has over 20 years IT experience, primarily in the pharmaceutical and healthcare industries and over 15 years in the project management discipline.

When Angel is not coaching, professionally speaking, or teaching IT students at IvyTech, she is in northwest Indianapolis being a life guide to her daughter, Moriah, and son, DJ.

Please welcome Angel Henry!